

MODULAR PET FURNITURE

ABSTRACT

Modular pet furniture providing a place for pets, in particular, cats, to rest, sleep 5 and recreate, comprising a frame structure, a bed structure, a pet support and an attachment mechanism. The frame structure forms a single or a plurality of support regions or compartments that can accommodate different bed styles and different numbers of pets. The support regions also provide space for toys and other items of interest for pets, such as scratch pads. The modular pet furniture can be configured to contain a variable number of support 10 regions in a number of different stacking configurations, to form pet furniture of a variety of shape and size.